In my opinion, The Crossing by Gary Paulsen was a very interesting book that really showed the true conflict between the two main characters. The author makes you feel sympathy for the children struggling to survive on their own in Mexico. Manny Bustos is a 14 year old orphan boy who was abandoned from his parents at such a young age. Later in the book, Manny later finds a sergeant in the back of an alley, who was vomiting away all the drinks he had that night. The main story plot revolves around

The Crossing by Gary Paulsen tells the story of fourteen-year-old Manny Bustos, an orphan in Juarez, Mexico. Growing up just on the other side of the American border, Manny is always aware that, if he could only get across the heavily guarded bridge, he would have access to a better world and a better life for himself. Instead, he spends most of his time competing with rival street kids to catch the coins that Americans throw down over the bridge that stands between the city of El-Paso ...

The Crossing by Gary Paulsen is told in the eyes of a Mexican street kid, Manny Bustos.

The story follows Manny on his journey to cross to America. In the beginning, each chapter is a different point of view of two people, Manny, an orphan, and a sergeant named Robert Lurke. As the story goes on, the two point of views alternate. In his first attempt of crossing, Manny fails to cross to America due to border patrol. After he turns around to return to the border city of Juarez ...
